

IN THE UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF TEXAS
AMARILLO DIVISION

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION TO
DISMISS PETITION FOR A WRIT OF HABEAS CORPUS

Petitioner has filed with this Court a form Petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus by a Person in State Custody indicating he is challenging a prison disciplinary proceeding that took place at the Beto Unit in Anderson County, Texas. Petitioner contends he lost 1,355 days of previously earned good-time credits as a result of this prison disciplinary proceeding and is eligible for mandatory supervised release.<sup>1</sup> Petitioner was incarcerated at the Clements Unit in Potter County, Texas at the time he filed this habeas petition and remains incarcerated at the Clements Unit. On July 29, 2010, respondent filed a Motion to Dismiss petitioner's habeas application for failure to state a claim upon which relief may be granted. For the reasons hereinafter expressed, the undersigned United States Magistrate Judge is of the opinion respondent's Motion to Dismiss should be GRANTED and <sup>1</sup>Petitioner is presently incarcerated pursuant to a 2004 conviction for harassment by a person in a correctional facility out of Washington County, Texas and a 2006 conviction for theft greater than $20,000 but less than $100,000 out of Harris County, Texas. Respondent's Motion to Dismiss with Brief in Support, Exhibit A. Petitioner's offense history is confirmed by the online Offender Information Detail database maintained by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, Correctional Institutions Division (TDCJ-CID).

petitioner's application for federal habeas corpus relief should be DISMISSED.

I.
PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

Petitioner represents he was found guilty, on December 4, 2009, of the disciplinary violation of "concealing material evidence" in case number 20090409FLET. Petitioner contends his Step 1 grievance was denied December 21, 2009, and his Step 2 grievance was denied January 14, 2010. Petitioner has not replied to respondent's motion to dismiss.

II.
NO ACTUAL DISCIPLINARY CASE EXISTS

An actual controversy must exist at all stages of litigation in order for a case to be brought in federal court. Cook v. Hanberry, 592 F.2d 248, 249 (5th Cir. 1979). If a petitioner does not challenge an actual disciplinary proceeding, the interests habeas corpus was created to serve are not implicated. See Wolff v. McDonnell, 148 U.S. 539, 558, 94 S.Ct. 2963, 2976, 41 L.Ed.2d 935 (1974). Beyond the question of the existence of an actual case or controversy, however, there is a concern a petitioner may be abusing the writ of habeas corpus by intentionally misrepresenting material facts to a federal court in a habeas corpus petition. Even though pro se petitioners are afforded wide latitude, a court need not tolerate abuse of the litigation process by a pro se petitioner. Basing habeas corpus pleadings upon falsities constitutes such an abuse. See McCleskey v. Zant, 499 U.S. 467, 496, 111 S.Ct. 1454, 1471, 113 L.Ed.2d 517 (1991) (establishing federal habeas corpus courts need not tolerate clearly abusive habeas corpus petitions); Rose v. Lundy, 455 U.S. 509, 521 n. 13, 102 S.Ct. 1198, 1205, 71 L.Ed.2d 379 (1982) ("Nothing in the traditions of habeas corpus requires the federal courts to . . . entertain collateral proceedings whose only purpose is to vex, harass, or delay.").

In this case, it appears petitioner has invented the prison disciplinary case upon which his habeas corpus petition is based. First, “concealing material evidence” is not an offense for which a disciplinary case can be written under TDCJ-CID policy. See Disciplinary Rules and Procedures for Offenders, published by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, § XIV, “TDCJ Disciplinary Offenses,” pgs. 23-33 (revised Jan. 2005). Second, as respondent verifies in his Motion to Dismiss, TDCJ-CID uses a purely numerical system to identify offender disciplinary actions. The number petitioner provided, 20090409FLET, is not a valid TDCJ-CID disciplinary case number. (Respondent’s Motion to Dismiss with Brief in Support, Exhibit B). Respondent additionally indicates “[t]he numbers listed above are not close to any of the offender disciplinaries shown on the records of Finley, Jaicourrie Dewayne.” (Id.).

By basing this habeas corpus petition upon what appears to be a fabricated prison disciplinary action, petitioner has wasted valuable resources of both the federal judiciary and the Attorney General of Texas. Because an actual case or controversy does not appear to exist, this case should be DISMISSED. See Cook, 592 F.2d at 249. Additionally, petitioner should be cautioned that any future habeas corpus petition not based on an actual disciplinary case will not be tolerated. See McCleskey, 499 U.S. at 496, 111 S.Ct. at 1474. Should petitioner continue to file meritless petitions, the Court may impose sanctions upon him which would require him to pay a monetary fee before the Court will consider any habeas corpus petition from him, or which could bar him from filing in federal court in the future.

III. RECOMMENDATION

It is the RECOMMENDATION of the United States Magistrate Judge to the United States District Judge that the Motion to Dismiss filed by respondent be GRANTED and the Petition for a Writ of Habeas Corpus by a Person in State Custody filed by petitioner JAICOURRIE DEWAYNE FINLEY
